JOHN BULL'S YANKEE HOUSE.

THE RESIDENCE OF THE BRITISH MINISTER AT WASHINGTON.

The British Minister, who was just a year older than Sir Lionel, Savkville, E. K. G., is the fifth son of the first Lord Delaware, a brother of the present Earl, who succeeded to the title at their father's death.

3. The family are direct lineal descendants of Thomas West, the third Lord Delaware, who was Governor of Virginia in 1669. The house of West, however, Sir Thomas West, E. K. G., and the line of Earl Dorchester, began in 1299, growing into the line of Earls of Dorchester in 1670.

4. The house of Savkville is older, dating back to 1070, from a follower of the Normans.

5. In 1567 Thomas Savkville was knighted in the presence of Queen Elizabeth I. at the Duke of Norfolk. On the same day he was made a knight of the Bath.

6. In 1640, the house of Savkville was represented by Lord Buckhurst. In 1843 the houses of Buckhurst and West were merged into one through the late Earl of Delaware, the mother of the British Minister.

7. The British Minister is the third son of the two daughters of John Frederick Baccus, the third Duke of Dorset, who has sons, and at his death the title became extinct.

8. The British Minister, Lady Delamere, assumed the surname of Savkville, and inherited half a century Savkville West has become a family name.

9. It is strangely enough the coat-of-arms of the Savkville was very similar to the West coat of arms, which was a lion passant guardant, with the motto, "Jour de ma vie." Sir Lionel Savkville West is one of a family of six sons and six daughters. The eldest and second sons, the third is the present Lord Delaware.

10. The fourth is Mortimer Savkville West, who was knighted in 1870, and was created Baron Savkville ten years ago, and now is the Earl of Dorchester.

11. The youngest son is the Hon. William Howard Savkville, who has three sons, and the present Earl has two sons, the eldest is seventeen, the title is likely to remain in the branch of the family for sometime.

12. The three daughters, the eldest is Lady Darnley, the second is the Duchess of Devonshire, and the third died, the wife of Sir Lionel Savkville.

13. The British Minister is about 59 years of age, is a fair-complexioned, blue-eyed, well-proportioned man, with a few white hairs on his head, but he is not the English phlegmatic, and might be taken for an American when not in the position of a Minister. Like most young men of his age, he is a sportsman, and has been a member in the diplomatic service, having been in London, Paris, Rome, and in 1854 as a clerk to the late Earl of Arundel, and in 1855 as a clerk to the late Earl of Devonshire. He has risen through the various grades from his first appointment as a clerk to the present position of British Minister to Germany, Italy, and France as Secretary of Legation.

14. He was appointed in 1872 and was transferred to the United States in June, 1881, and was in the United States until the following 14th of November. The present British Minister, Sir Edward Darnley, was appointed in 1881, and was in the United States until the following 14th of November. NEWS ABOUT THE KNIGHTS.

A KNIGHT OF LABOR'S NOTES CONCERNING THE ORDER.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—There are between 83,000 and 84,000 Knights of Labor in Philadelphia, several thousands more than in any other city in America. As this is the birthplace of the order, so it is the headquarters, and the fact that there are more Knights of Labor in Philadelphia than in any other large city, speaks well for the management of the army of workmen in this jurisdiction of the great association. District Assembly No. 1 is the second largest in the order, No. 30, which takes in all of Massachusetts, ranking ahead in numerical strength. In Massachusetts the Knights of Labor have been in force since 1842. Philadelphia and vicinity there are three. The three districts here, all covering the same territory, embrace Philadelphia and the northern and western suburbs, as well as Chester, Media, the small towns on the Chester Creek, and Wilmington, Del. In all there are more than 100,000 members in the three districts.

One striking feature of this "mixed district," all trades, except shoemakers and leather makers, being represented in it. The other two districts are No. 70, composed entirely of shoemakers, and No. 94, to which only those who are engaged in the manufacture of leather are admitted. These have a combined membership of 10,000.

There is such a diversity of trades and interests represented in District No. 1 that the business cannot be settled as smoothly and quietly as the District Executive Committee could wish. There are many disturbing elements in the district, and to harmonize them the Executive Committee have had to call for the services of four members of the Board up to last week rested more responsibility than upon all the other members of the district. They gave their entire time to the settlement of differences between employers and employees. Now only two men are thus engaged. The purpose of the Knights of Labor is to have no strikes, but of the two trades of strikes which are avoided is 50,000 hours.

W. R. Faris, James A. Wright, J. J. Mulvey, and John C. H. Smith are the four men who have done nearly all the arbitrating for the district. The arbitrators are paid a regular salary, but they have no regular office hours. They are called upon at any time, and frequently until late in the morning of the next day. One arbitrator has been called upon to arbitrate four different trades in a day, and the amount of work necessary in order to post themselves on the facts of each case is so great that it is a labor of, not only, but a great deal of, time. The arbitrators are paid a regular salary, but they have no regular office hours. They are called upon at any time, and frequently until late in the morning of the next day. One arbitrator has been called upon to arbitrate four different trades in a day, and the amount of work necessary in order to post themselves on the facts of each case is so great that it is a labor of, not only, but a great deal of, time.

The machinery of the order is almost perfect. When a trade or a group of trades believes it is being wronged by an employer, it is considered by the local assembly to which the members belong. If it is decided to be worthy of consideration, the case is referred to the Chairman of the Executive Board, who details a member to take into consideration the merits of the case. The case is then referred to the Executive Board, and if it is found that there is no cause for complaint exists, and the case is closed.

In such cases," said a member of the Board, "it is a question of how much damage has been done, and how much time has been lost. The time is taken up in investigating the facts of the case, and in order to be ordered, but no credit for the many more strikes that are prevented by the action of the district assembly. The district assembly, the Executive Board, and the local assembly, and in case a strike is ordered by the local assembly, the strike receives neither support nor sympathy from the district assembly. The work done, about eighteen hours a day, the active members of the Board are paid $3 per week, and the Executive Board are paid $100 a month. One active member, a garment cutter, said he averaged $3 a week at his trade, but gave it up to be an arbitrator, and now he receives $3 a day for harder work.

Some of the local assemblies have elected the office of Secretary of the district, arbitrator, judge advocate, and two or three others, and some of them have received as much as that at this time the salary for the district that there never has been a salary for the district. Some of the local assemblies have elected the office of Secretary of the district, arbitrator, judge advocate, and two or three others, and some of them have received as much as that at this time the salary for the district that there never has been a salary for the district. The district assembly, the Executive Board, and the local assembly, and in case a strike is ordered by the local assembly, the strike receives neither support nor sympathy from the district assembly. The work done, about eighteen hours a day, the active members of the Board are paid $3 per week, and the Executive Board are paid $100 a month. One active member, a garment cutter, said he averaged $3 a week at his trade, but gave it up to be an arbitrator, and now he receives $
